

Gearing Up for Alzheimer Disease

About the Team

Ryan Anderson has been attending the University of Regina for the past four years where he is majoring in Sports Administration. He is also a member of the U of R Rams Football Club. At 21 years of age he enjoys mountain biking, hacky sacking and playing the guitar. In early 2004 he lost both of his grandparents to Alzheimer Disease. "My grandmother battled Alzheimer Disease for years and it left her hospitalized and unable to communicate with anyone," says Ryan. "My grandfather's condition was not as severe but his memory was extremely bad and communication was always a struggle. When they passed away our family celebrated their lives and we celebrated our belief that their spirits had been set free from the chains of their body and mind."

Ryan's grandparents have inspired him to help fund Alzheimer research in hopes of one day finding a cure. He looks forward to his cycling adventure across our great nation to help inform Canadians about Alzheimer Disease. He hopes others will join him in his journey to find a cure.

Kris Gendall is a Saskatchewan boy who is completing his senior year at St. Francis Xavier University in Antigonish, Nova Scotia. He is a chemistry major, belongs to the Chemistry Society, and works as a student lab demonstrator. He volunteers his time at CFXU, the campus radio station, and the Green Council Society. He also works part-time job to help pay for school. He enjoys cycling, hanging out with friends, and a good movie. He feels fortunate that he has not lost anyone in his family to Alzheimer Disease because he knows that families and friends of people who have Alzheimer Disease face a long and difficult journey. As a science student, he is excited to be raising money for a research scholarship that will not only promote Alzheimer research but will assist a student like himself to gain expertise in scientific study.

"I hope our journey will make a difference for people who have the disease," says Kris.

Yes! I would like to support Kris and Ryan in their effort to raise funds and awareness for Alzheimer Research. Please accept my tax deductible donation to the Alzheimer Society Of Saskatchewan for:
